

Resonance: Strategic Brand Partner for Medical Innovation

We translate scientific complexity into commercial conviction. Clinical credibility built through brand architecture .

Brand systems for companies operating at the edge of medicine and market.

THE PROBLEM

- Structural clinical distrust. Clinical audiences distrust marketing by default; investors distrust science they cannot easily parse. The gap between clinical credibility and commercial clarity is widening.
- The generalist penalty. Most life science companies launch with brand systems built under pressure by generalists who have never been at the clinical front line. These early assets are rarely revisited—until they become active liabilities.
- Clearance without clarity. Companies frequently clear regulatory hurdles yet struggle to articulate their differentiator. Seed-round names become structural liabilities at Series B, and visual assets fail the dual test of physician credibility and investor confidence.

THE OPPORTUNITY

- Unifying clinical validation and investor conviction. The opportunity to align your narrative for your two most critical, yet divergent, audiences. A structured brand architecture builds immediate trust with skeptical clinicians while presenting commercial scale to investors.
- Establishing category authority early. Moving beyond regulatory clearance to define and own your market category. By translating scientific complexity into commercial conviction before launch, you pre-empt market friction and match your story to the sophistication of your science.
- De-risking launch and market entry. Aligning all visual and narrative touchpoints before scaling your sales force or marketing spend. Ensuring your website, investor decks, publications, and conference presence all project the same scientific rigor maximizes launch impact and eliminates confusion.

HOW WE FIT IN

- Domain specialists. We are a small, senior collective of vetted practitioners who have worked inside early-stage medtech and pharma firms. We build brand systems specifically for the intersection of medicine and market.
- Clinical authentication. Our advisory includes a practicing physician active across US, European, and Indian clinical networks. We pressure-test claims for physician-level authenticity: "Would a skeptical clinician trust this in a peer conversation?"
- Upstream positioning. We define what a company is, who it is for, and how it proves its value. We operate upstream, before campaigns or execution; clients needing execution vendors receive trusted referrals.

WHAT WE DO

01. Strategy — Brand & Positioning

Category design, positioning, naming architecture, investor narratives, HCP messaging, and clinical evidence frameworks.

02. Identity — Visual Brand Systems

Visual assets for clinical and commercial use, portfolio architecture, conference identity, scientific communication, animation & video, digital brand, and SaMD UI brand alignment.

03. Activation — Launch & Market Entry

Market entry strategy, roadshow/investor materials, conference exhibitor strategy, and cross-border launch (US, EU, India).

HOW WE ENGAGE

Brand Sprint

FIXED-SCOPE / 3–6 WEEKS

Positioning, naming, and messaging architecture. Resolves the gap between science and strategy before a fundraise or launch.

Identity & Launch System

PROJECT-BASED

Full visual brand system for clinical and commercial use. Scaled from product launches to major conferences, priced per deliverable.

Strategic Brand Retainer

ADVISORY RETAINER

Ongoing monthly strategic input and access to clinical advisory. For teams wanting a senior thinking partner, not a production agency.

We work with companies where brand precision is a commercial necessity, not a cosmetic consideration. If your next raise or market entry depends on how well clinicians and investors read you, that is what we are built for.

SCHEDULE A CALL

Book a 30-Min Conversation